NMCC to offer 'crash course' in computers

Aroostook County - Are you afraid of computers? That is a question that many of us can still answer with a resounding yes. Northern Maine Community College is offering a "Crash Course in Computers" to help individuals overcome these fears and to answer questions about basic operations, software and purchasing a computer.

This hands-on workshop will teach participants the must know components of a PC, their names and what they do. During the three-hour session, participants will learn what an operating system is and how to surf the internet, as well as get an overview of the Microsoft Office Suite. The course is scheduled for Tuesday, January 12, from 5:30 pm to 8:30 pm. The cost of the workshop is $39. Call NMCC's continuing education division at 768-2849 for more information or to register for this course.
