

Students Work to Raise Funds for Haitian Relief

Members of Phi Theta Kappa, the campus honor society, are working to raise money to help provide food for those in Haiti suffering in the wake of the earthquake that devastated that country. Cash donations can be made in the bookstore, and all money collected will be donated to the World Food Programme (WFP). Those wishing to make a credit card donation can use the link that was e-mailed to students and employees on January 27. Be sure to select "Northern Maine CC" from the drop down menu under the "Help Us Serve You Better" section.

Questions regarding this project can be directed to PTK advisor Lori Googins at lgoogins@nmcc.edu or 768-2782. All support is greatly appreciated!

1001 Journals Project

The library is participating in the 1001 Journals Project. The purpose of this project is to create journals that are interesting, artistic, and unique and then share them with the rest of the world on-line.

There will be a blank journal in the library, and students and employees are encouraged to contribute to the journal. Samples of other journals can be seen online at 1001journals.com. When the journal is complete, the library staff will upload photos of the journal pages to the site and share it with everyone.

Please stop by and add a photo, drawing, a bit of prose, a poem, or some other creative expression to the journal.

To learn more about the 1001 Journals Project, visit 1001journals.com. Questions regarding the NMCC journal can be directed to Gail Roy by stopping in the library, e-mailing groy@nmcc.edu or calling 768-2734.
