Twenty-three NMCC students named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges

Aroostook County - Twenty-three Northern Maine Community College students who have been selected as outstanding campus leaders will be honored in the 2010 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of the students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

The students join an elite group of students from more than 2,300 institutions of higher learning in all fifty states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations. Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

“All of us at NMCC are pleased to see these students recognized nationally for their academic achievements. It is most fulfilling when students who have never received such accolades are recognized in front of their friends and families. Inclusion in Who's Who provides a forum for these deserving students' accomplishments to be showcased along with others from across the country. It's an honor that will stay with these students forever,” said William Egeler, NMCC Dean of Students.
