

NMCC nursing faculty and students wear red

Northern Maine Community College nursing students and faculty joined people nationwide in wearing red on February 1 to show their support for women's heart disease awareness. This observance promotes the Red Dress symbol and provides an opportunity for everyone to unite in this life-saving awareness movement by showing off a favorite red dress, shirt, or tie, or Red Dress Pin. Participating in the "wear red" campaign were, seated from left: Trudi Smith of Mars Hill; Tonya DuVal of Caribou; Louise Hamlin of Presque Isle; William Milliard of Fort Fairfield; Nicholas Taxiarchis of Washburn; Heidi Smith of Limestone; Tammy MacDougall of Presque Isle; and Mallory McKeil of Woodstock, New Brunswick. Standing, from left, are: nursing instructor Paula Flora; Rebecca Palmer-Bugbee of Mapleton; Erik Vaughn of Washburn; Tracy Rossignol of Presque Isle; Jolene Paul of Presque Isle; Andrea Pratt of Chapman; and nursing instructors Eileen McDougal and Kim Esquibel. Missing from photo is Abby McLaughlin of Presque Isle.
