

NMCC Web-site Gets New Look

After several months of work, the NMCC Web-site (www.nmcc.edu) has been re-designed with a new look to match our new marketing campaign theme and materials. Special thanks to the IT Staff--particularly Robert Smith, Karen Gonya from the development office, and Heidi Carter and Neal Jandreau of our marketing firm for their efforts.

Please note, this is a work in progress. Aside from the home page and the secondary pages that are directly linked to the home page, all other pages (aside from the cosmetic) have been largely untouched.

This means that some text and photos may be out of date. We are working to update photos but certainly need your help with ensuring text accuracy. Please review pages in your area. Print out any pages where information is inaccurate, out-of-date or simply in need of change. We ask that you mark up the pages with the new/correct information or attach a document with the correct information and what it needs to replace and please get it to Karen in the Development Office.

We hope you enjoy the new look and ask for your continued patience and understanding as we continue to update and upgrade our presence on the World Wide Web.

Thank You...

A special thank you to Christy Dingee of the Battered Women's Project for her presentations to students in the Intro to Healthcare class, as well as students in the Early Childhood Education program. She completed both a morning and afternoon session, covering such topics as where to go to get help, resources available, and why the abused remain in abusive relationships. She also introduced students to several activity-based instructional tools to help them understand the different types of abuse and the many forms that abuse can take.

Information of this nature is critical for both the education/child care community and the health and medical fields. The instructors are very grateful for her time and effort on behalf of their students!

Noteworthy Items...

☆ Congratulations to NMCC's Wendy Bradstreet, Daryl Boucher and Leah Buck for being named "Real Heroes" during the Red Cross Heroes Breakfast for their work in bringing Pediatric and Neonatal Critical Care Transport training to the County. All 16 local participants of the training were also recognized. Congratulations as well to Steven Crowley, son of NMCC President Tim Crowley, on being named a "Real Hero" for his work in raising over $10,000 in the MS 150 bike ride last fall.

☆ The findings of the Governor's Community College Advisory Council were presented on campus on November 16. Copies of the report were distributed to all employees. Anyone else who would like a copy of the report should contact the development office at info@nmcc.edu.
